

Ironwood Drive is a Lancaster, Pennsylvania-based bluegrass band featuring powerful harmonies and skillful instrumentation. The band has continued to thrive with several new faces joining over the years.

Through pulse-pounding drive and songs sung from the heart, the band brings a new and passionate approach to the world of bluegrass. From hard-hitting traditional covers to new curated material, Ironwood Drive seeks to introduce a new generation to a genre the band loves.

The band continues to grow its audience with 2025 marking the busiest schedule to date. Since winning "Fan Favorite" at Podunk Bluegrass Festival, the band has performed at festivals such as Remington Ryde, Blistered Fingers, and Upperco Bluegrass.

"Gettin' Outta Here" will be the band's third studio project, releasing summer of 2026. A special thanks to Aaron Ramsey and Adam Steffey for their involvement in this album via Mountain Fever Studios.
